Adamski's teaching now vindicated by 21ST-century systems science ?
NEW EDITION WITH COMMENTARY AND NOTES COMING THIS APRIL

UNCOVERED: George Adamski's lost debut from 1932

Early philosophy puts him on a par with leading edge 21st-century science

Missing from even his 12(!)-volume Collected Writings in Japanese, George Adamski's first booklet, The Invisible Ocean, stems from 1932 and was almost lost in the mist of time when Dutch researcher Gerard Aartsen secured a copy of this publication that is as rare as it is unknown to even the most dedicated Adamski students.

In The Sea of Consciousness, which includes an integral republication of The Invisible Ocean, Gerard Aartsen shows the many striking parallels between Adamski's earliest teaching and the insights of 21st-century systems science as articulated by “modern-day genius” professor Ervin Laszlo. This volume is therefore of historical importance and could well prompt a complete reassessment of George Adamski's work, and a rehabilitation of his reputation.

Professor Laszlo is the founder of international think tank The Club of Budapest, and the Laszlo Institute of New Paradigm Research. He is also known for going on the record about the extraterrestrial presence in an interview in 2008: "I am certain that contact has been made."

Gerard Aartsen is the author of four books about the extraterrestrial presence, including George Adamski – A Herald for the Space Brothers (2010), Priorities for a Planet in Transition (2015), and Before Disclosure – Dispelling the Fog of Speculation (2016), all of which have been translated and published in multiple languages.

The full text of The Invisible Ocean will be included in Gerard's new book, The Sea of Consciousness, to be released this April 17, with two previously unpublished, related articles by Adamski, a special section on The Royal Order of Tibet, detailed commentaries, and George Adamski's updated bibliography.
